FRANKLIN DELANO Roosevelt Jr., tosses his hat in the ring at a New York Hotel Thursday as he announces that he will try for the Democratic nomination for governor to oppose Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller this fall. With him as he made his announcement are daughters, Laura, 6 and Nancy, 14, and his wife, Suzanne. His father served two terms in Albany before being elected President in 1932. Two other Democrats are already in the race and others are expected to join. (AP Wirephoto)

Johnson Says U.S. To Persevere Until Peace Comes To Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key-note a war-clouded congressional election campaign, President Johnson has urged Democratic contenders to tell the voters that America will stand with honor, courage and patience in Viet Nam.

And Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield added to that counsel a declaration that another Democratic Congress offers Americans the best hope for a reasonable and honorable peace in Southeast Asia.

Johnson and an array of party leaders praised the current Congress and forecast Democratic gains in the next one at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner Thursday.

It drew more than 6,100 people to the cavernous, bunting-draped National Guard Armory. The money will go to Democratic candidates for House and Senate seats.

Johnson and Mansfield both advised their party's nominees to tackle the war issue directly in the coming campaign.

The President's advice: "Go out there in the countryside and tell them this fall that America will persevere until peace comes to Viet Nam."

Johnson said the vast majority of Americans will respect that stand.

"The issue must be faced and met in the coming campaign," said Mansfield. "... Democrats in this Congress have no apologies whatsoever to make on the question of Viet Nam."

In different ways, Johnson and Mansfield acknowledged that Democrats do not see eye to eye on the war issue.

Republican strategists are counting on Democratic dissension to help them gain votes in November.

Johnson had barbed comments for Democratic critics of his Asian stand—represented at the head table by Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, listened, sipped water, puffed cigarettes and applauded politely when the President was through.

"I'm delighted to be here tonight with my very old friends as well as some members of the Foreign Relations Committee," Johnson said with a glance toward Fulbright. "You can say one thing about these hearings, although I don't think this is the place to say it."

A round of hearings before Fulbright's committee has produced a stream of critical senatorial comments about Johnson's Viet Nam stance.

Mixed in with the criticism have been comments backing U.S. policy.

Johnson signed into law today the first financing for the controversial rent subsidy and National Teacher Corps programs, and said they will help "take the light to all the dark places in this nation."

A year after the two programs were authorized, Congress voted $12.1 million for the rent subsidy plan to improve the housing of poor families and $9.5 million for a teacher corps to operate in slum schools.

These sums are part of a $2.8-billion supplemental appropriation Johnson signed to finance a host of federal agencies during the remaining weeks of the fiscal year that ends June 30.

The President signed the legislation at a rose garden ceremony outside his office in the presence of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, several Cabinet officers and leaders of Congress.

To the congressional representatives, he voiced a special plea—to make available "the funds we need—and we desperately need them—for the teacher corps" next fiscal year.

China's Nuclear Blast Debris Is Minute In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high-flying radioactive cloud from Monday's nuclear blast in Red China is now passing over the United States, government experts estimated today.

No radioactive debris has yet been detected on U.S. soil, however, so far as is known. And officials predicted that when it is detected it will be extremely minute, "just a drop in the bucket" compared to the radioactive spewed from the great Russian and American tests of 1961-1962.

Robert List, chief of the atmospheric radiology branch of the Environmental Science Services Administration, estimated that about 11 a.m. EDT, today the leading edge of the cloud was over the Great Plains. It will probably be over the eastern United States Saturday and over Europe Monday.

This estimate is based, not on actual contact with radioactive debris, but on wind conditions.

Safety Hearing Ends; Months Til Law Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional auto safety hearings end today but it is likely to be weeks—or even months—before Congress comes up with legislation to authorize federal motor vehicle safety standards.

Both the House and Senate Commerce committees are expected to go beyond President Johnson's recommendations and approve measures to establish the standards.

But the committees plan to clear their dockets of other legislation before turning to the complex safety issue.

The Senate Commerce Committee currently is engaged in lengthy sessions on the administration's truth-in-packaging bill and plans to take up next the House-passed measure to restrict interstate shipment of dogs and cats for research.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, chairman of the House Commerce Committee, said his committee will take up some minor bills and the legislation dealing with Community Antenna Television systems before returning to auto safety.

The committee had planned to end its hearing Thursday, but scheduled a session for today when Tom Triplett, a Chester, S.C., businessman, requested the opportunity to appear before the group.

Last week Triplett submitted a statement to the committee urging the Department of Commerce to publish each year a chart showing the number of each kind of car in the nation and the number involved in accidents.

Rep. Eugene A. Cernan, chairman of the House Commerce Committee, said his committee will take up some minor bills and the legislation dealing with Community Antenna Television systems before returning to auto safety.

Their first major task will be to pursue an Agena target satellite across the sky, catching it in four hours over the western Pacific during the third orbit.

"We'll move right in on it, docking within 20 minutes, by the time we reach Hawaii," said Stafford.

The time and maneuvers involved are similar to those planned for two astronauts in a Lunar Excursion Module (LEM) to rejoin the Apollo command ship after they launch themselves from the moon.

While they are on the surface, a third astronaut circles the moon in the main ship.

Stafford will fire the spacecraft's jet thrusters to adjust the high point of its orbital path so it is 168 miles, or precisely 17 miles below the path of the Agena.

Also, Gemini 9 will be launched about two minutes earlier than Gemini 8. That means the Agena will only have a 720-mile head start instead of a 1,200-mile lead.

The other two rendezvous attempts are scheduled for the third day, after Cernan has taken a space walk and the pilots have maneuvered by firing the Agena engine while docked.

The second will be attempted without the use of radar and the third will simulate the Apollo command ship descending to pick up the Lunar Excursion Module in case the LEM cannot make it down to the moon's surface and is unable to come all the way back up to the main ship.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices declined sharply today after a 15 per cent drop in automobile sales in the first 10 days of May was reported.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks lost 8.40 points to 877.17 in the first half-hour of trading.

Trading was heavy.

Only Ford Motor Co. among the four major automakers reported a sales increase in early May.

Opening of trading in General Motors was delayed because of an influx of orders. The issue closed Thursday at $84.87, off $1.50.

In early trading today, Chrysler was off $1.12 at $41. Ford was down 25 cents at $46.62 and American Motors was off 25 cents at $9.12.

U.S. Denies Invasion In China's Air Space

Gemini 9 Plans Call For Three Space Link-Ups

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — During their three-day flight starting Tuesday, the Gemini 9 astronauts plan to execute three space rendezvous maneuvers similar to those that might have to be made on Project Apollo man-to-the-moon trips.

The maneuvers "will be closer to what an Apollo rendezvous will be than was the case with Gemini 8," said Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford, Gemini 9 command pilot.

Riding with him will be Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan.

Their first major task will be to pursue an Agena target satellite across the sky, catching it in four hours over the western Pacific during the third orbit.

Augenstein Asks Research Aimed At Birth Defects

DETROIT (AP)—A biophysicist with personal knowledge of the problems of birth defects, Thursday proposed the Federal Government spend $2 billion to develop tests to warn parents of possible malformations.

Dr. Leroy Augenstein, 38, chairman of the biophysics department at Michigan State University, proposed the research.

Such problems are not just a question of medicine for Augenstein. His brother, David, 32, is a mongoloid who speaks like a 3-year-old, he told a newsman.

"If we could save only one child from living a life of pain or complete mental incompetence, we would have achieved a tremendous success," he said in a speech before the Michigan Public Health Association.

Augenstein said tests now exist for only seven congenital or hereditary defects. They must be expanded to include the 100 most serious defects," he said.

It now is possible, he explained, to determine prior to conception whether parents may have children suffering from such disorders as muscular dystrophy, cystic fibrosis, certain types of diabetes, and certain types of mongolism.

But, he said, tests should be developed to detect the possibility of malformations of the central nervous system, types of heart defects, blindness due to glaucoma, and others.

"It should be up to the federal government to develop the tests," Augenstein stated. "But it should be the job of the local and state organizations to see that these tests are made available."

One out of 17 children born, according to Augenstein, has some kind of birth defect. Between 40,000 and 50,000 are so defective, he said, "that they don't know what it means to be a human being."

MIG17 Is Shot Down 20 Miles From Border

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force today strongly denied Peking's charge that American fighters intruded into Red China to shoot down a Chinese plane.

The Air Force said one of its missile-firing F4C Phantoms brought down a Communist MIG17 over North Viet Nam 20 to 25 miles south of the Chinese border. The deputy commander of the Air Force in Viet Nam indicated the Americans think the plane was North Vietnamese, not Chinese.

Red China's first acknowledgment of any plane losses in the Vietnamese war placed Thursday's air battle northeast of Makwan, 25 miles north of the border, in China's Yunnan province. It called the incident "an act of war provocation" and said "the debt in blood owed by U.S. imperialism to the Chinese people must be cleared."

An American spokesman said the aerial battle took place 105 to 115 miles northwest of Hanoi over the Red River Valley when three MIGs made firing passes with their wing cannon at two of three Phantoms.

Maj. Wilbur R. Dudley, 34, of Alamogordo, N.M., spotted a fourth MIG attacking an Air Force RB66 electronic jamming plane with the flight.

Hit By Missile

While his two wingmen maneuvered from the three other MIGs, Dudley fired two heat-seeking Sidewinder missiles at the fourth. The second missile scored from about 1 1/4 miles. The Communist jet exploded and was spotted by Dudley's wingmen spinning out of control to the ground.

The other MIGs fled and the four American planes returned safely. Dudley's crewman was 1st Lt. Imantes Kringelis, 23, of Lake Zurich, Ill.

It was the 12th MIG reported shot down in the war.

The spokesman said the American pilots did not see the markings on the enemy jets.

Markings Obscure

After previous encounters U.S. officials said they believed the Red jets were North Vietnamese, although this was never expressed with absolute certainty. North Vietnamese and Chinese aircraft markings are strikingly similar and would be difficult to distinguish at the supersonic speeds involved.

Maj. Gen. Gilbert L. Meyers, deputy U.S. Air Force commander in Viet Nam, cast doubt on speculation that the Chinese had decided to commit their planes to the war.

"We have no evidence that the Chinese have come in," he told newsmen at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase.

Farm Workers Comp Delayed

A bill to delay agricultural workmen's compensation until May 1, 1967, has passed both the House and the Senate of the Michigan Legislature with "immediate effect." It will become law as soon as the governor signs the bill, which is expected.

The new bill carries amendments which exclude piece rate workers from requirements for full workmen's compensation coverage. It also excludes as employee's, members of the farmer-employer's family living on the farm.

It has been agreed by the Joint Senate and House Labor Committees, the insurance industry, and farm leaders that there will be further study of other needed improvements in the law such as rates, coverage, clarification of the section requiring health and hospital insurance.

The original bill covering agricultural workers with workmen's compensation was to have gone into effect May 1, 1966. The legislators saw a need for changes and decided to delay the whole process for a year in order to come up with a more workable program.

PEAK HOUR PARKING survey map showing the need for additional off-street parking space in Escanaba's downtown district is viewed by (from left) Tom Dike of Harland Bartholomew Associates, planning consultant for the city; Milton Embs, Escanaba administrative assistant; and Dale Vinette, chairman of the Planning Commission. More Off-Street Parking Needed Consultants Say

What many persons have assumed and motorists knew has been proved by a parking survey conducted under supervision of the City of Escanaba and its planning consultants:

There definitely is a parking space shortage in the downtown business district in the afternoon and extending into the evening on Friday.

The solution is more off-street parking in the central business district, Tom Dike of Harland Bartholomew Associates, planning consultants for the city, told the Planning Commission and merchant representatives at a meeting in the City Hall Thursday afternoon.

John Boyle, a retailer in the downtown district, complained the city and the Commission in bringing the parking study to the action stage so rapidly.

"You need it now," Dike said of the recommended space that would increase off-street parking in the central business area. The total would be 165 spaces—55 over the present immediate need and allow for growth, he said.

The one-half block parking area might very well be free and "serve to the effect of centering a shopping center," Dike added. If there is agreement and approving action the Area 1 site could be in use before the end of summer, he said.

Dike pointed out that a site for the proposed new State Bank of Escanaba, now being used for public parking, will be lost when the bank is constructed.

Chairman Stein of the merchants committee replied that the committee "is firmly against paying for any parking," but that the committee will meet and review the proposals.

Milton Embs, the city's administrative assistant, suggested that the merchants' committee meet and then report to the Planning Commission before the Commission makes a recommendation to the City Council. This was agreed to by the retailers.

The City Council is the body that will make the final decision on what action will be taken on the parking recommendations, Dale Vinette pointed out.

"I think you can almost bank on the Planning Commission recommending a participation program to the Council, he said. "We may be talking about a total of $150,000 to $200,000 in financing and this

Medicare Line Reminder Cited For Elderly

May is the month that persons who reached 65 before March 1, 1966, will have to sign up for doctor bill insurance if they are to have coverage by July 1, the date that Medicare coverage begins.

Arnold T. Williams, manager of the Escanaba Social Security office asks all senior citizens age 65 or over who have not signed for doctor bill insurance to visit their Social Security office immediately, so that they may have protection when the program starts on July 1.

Almost all persons 65 or over are eligible for the two types of health insurance under the Medicare program, hospital insurance and doctor bill insurance. Social Security beneficiaries are automatically enrolled in the hospital insurance program, but persons who are still working or who do not receive Social Security benefits must sign for hospital insurance. To get protection toward the cost of doctor bills at a cost of $3 per month, all persons must enroll.

Persons who were 65 before March 1, 1966, and fail to enroll before the deadline, May 31, will have to wait until October 1967 before they will have another chance to apply for doctor bill protection. As senior citizens become 65 they should visit their Social Security office no later than the month before their 65th birthday to have protection as soon as they reach 65.

Knowledge Explosion Aids Printing Spurt Helps Peninsula

IRON MOUNTAIN — A worldwide "explosion of knowledge" spreading through the printed word will boost the circulation of American magazines and scientific journals by more than 40 per cent in the next decade, William H. Fleweger, vice president of Kimberly-Clark and general manager of the Pulp and Paper Division, stated here Thursday night.

He said that latest projections, based on industry sources and Kimberly-Clark studies of paper demand, indicate the most spectacular increase will be in the demand for coated and quality papers. It is expected to increase from 1,800,000 tons in 1965 to 3,200,000 tons in 1975. This will include some 100,000 scientific journals and magazines around the world.

Speaking at the dedication of the new Iron Mountain-Kingsford Chamber of Commerce building, Fleweger pointed out that Kimberly-Clark operations at Munising and Niagara, now represent an influx of some $35 million annually for the Upper Michigan area and neighboring Niagara in Wisconsin.

"As our society has become increasingly automated and computerized, the printed and written word has taken on even greater importance. The amazing growth in education and college enrollments has created an insatiable appetite for paper to print on and to write on.

"The future of magazines has never seemed brighter. In editorial content, production, distribution, regional editions—all the things that mean growth in the magazine industry—there has been a constant record of improvement," Fleweger stated.

The Kimberly-Clark executive also noted that according to authoritative estimates, U. S. advertisers will spend $100 million more for magazine exposure this year than they did in 1965.

He said much of this growth will come about because of the slow demise of a tradition in publishing, the "pulp." They've now become "slicks," as advertisers demand better printing sheets. As a consequence, he said, magazines have grown in affluence as well as circulation.

Crime-Ring Victim Was Employed In Escanaba

By CLINT DUNATHAN

All week long Gary C. Grayvold worked in an industrial plant in Escanaba. On weekends he led a life of crime in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Then last Friday the body of the 28-year-old Stonington native was found in a lake near Utica. He had been tied with electrical wire, weighted with concrete, and dumped into the water.

Police are seeking two former prison comrades of Grayvold to face charges of murdering the ex-convict.

Named in the murder warrants Wednesday were Dante F. Ferrazza, 27, of Mount Clemens, and Harry W. Whitney, 28, of Warren.

String Of Robberies

Police said the pair, believed to have fled Michigan, had been associated with Grayvold in a string of robberies in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Detectives said they located a witness who said he saw Grayvold struggling with two

Ex-Convicts Are Held In Chicago

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Three Michigan lawmen have been sent to Evanston, Ill., to question two ex-convicts in connection with the gangland-type slaying of Gary Grayvold.

Macomb County Sheriff Lester Almstadt said one of his men, a State Police detective and an assistant prosecuting attorney left today for Evanston.

Almstadt said Illinois police notified him that Harry Whitney and Dante Ferrazza were arrested about 10 minutes after a supermarket was held up Thursday. The two were held on charges of armed robbery at Evanston.

The sheriff said the two men indicated they would fight extradition.

Michigan officials have issued warrants against the two in the slaying of Grayvold, whose nude body, weighted with two slabs of concrete, was found in a lake in Stony Creek Park in Macomb County last week.

slayings were bound with electrical wire.

Grayvold was tied with electrical wire in such a way that his struggles to free himself strangled him.

His body was then dumped in the lake.

Authorities are piecing together a weird life story of a man haunted by addiction to narcotics. Grayvold was born on Aug. 7, 1937. In his youth he suffered severely from acne that left his face pitted and scarred.

From the Upper Peninsula Grayvold traveled to the Detroit area in his early 20's and became associated with criminal elements who introduced him to narcotics—and made him an addicted user.

Not Big Spender

He served time in several county jails when he was apprehended for offenses; and he was sentenced to the House of Correction at Jackson for breaking and entering in the nighttime. On Jan. 14, 1959, Grayvold called his friends.

Grayvold was paroled to Macomb County authorities from the House of Correction.

Grayvold came to Escanaba to live about three years ago. During the week he worked in an industrial plant and his weekends were spent in Lower Michigan. He had a wife and couple of young children, who no longer reside in Delta County.

There was no indication that Grayvold had money other than the wages he received as an industrial worker. He did not spend large amounts of money here. There is the suggestion that most of his income went to keep him supplied with narcotics, which he purchased downstate.

Then in December, 1965, Grayvold quit his job and left Escanaba. Authorities completed their dossier on Gary C. Grayvold on May 6 when his trussed and weighted body was found in the lake. Now they are looking for two men that Grayvold called his friends.

Budgeting City Pay

The tentative budget of the City of Escanaba as submitted by the city manager to the City Council is notable for the decrease in capital improvement—spending on buildings and other physical facilities for the city—and the increase in the wage fund.

The total wage increase for next year for 155 employees amounts to $85,800. With the increased cost of pensions for police and firemen, which are charged to wage costs, the total increase is about $97,000.

That is 9.92 per cent increase in payroll costs over last year.

That is a husky boost and is apt to strike most taxpayers as excessive, but the city's wage increase for the past six years have averaged only 2 per cent a year.

The rear view look at the situation indicates that it would have been better to have had a more substantial annual increase than a sudden, large boost, which is triple the national wage-price guideline laid down by the Johnson Administration.

What the increase buys isn't fully apparent yet. City employees' unhappiness with their pay has led the police and firemen to obtain preferential treatment under a state law providing special benefits for these groups, and some employee groups are seeking union representation in bargaining with the city, besides their civil service status. Or maybe both?

City council men report that the wage increases will cause no increase in city taxes, but there is no assurance of this for the future. The $97,000 increase will be taken care of this first year 90 per cent by dipping into city surplus for $90,000 of the increase. This would leave a surplus balance of about $175,000.

The city situation here is somewhat similar to that of the state in Lansing, where the Democratic Legislature has refused to sponsor a tax increase to cover an increase in state spending. "Take it out of surplus," say the legislators. Governor Romney has been protesting that this process must lead inevitably to exhaustion of the surplus and need for more taxes and that it's best to order them before the state is broke.

Balancing the increased spending on wages somewhat is $8,400 of increased income from the local property tax because of an increase in the city's assessed valuation. Also in prospect is a $40,400 increase in state returned tax funds and $42,000 in interest earnings on the city's gas fund.

The city's capital improvement program—an important indication of how much it is investing in the municipality's growth and development—has been decreased $70,000 from last year to balance the budget, but the city's planners do not regard it as seriously shrunk, nor out of line with the city's need or capital spending in recent years.

Biggest single item of capital expenditure is airport improvement to prepare for jet aviation. The city proposes $78,000 investment in the year on this item as its share of a city-state-federal project, with another city appropriation coming up next year to complete it.

The city can increase its income to meet larger spending for wages or other needs without going to the people for authorization. It can levy up to 17 mills (plus 3 mills for debt service) and it is levying only 14.5 mills at the present time. (One mill brings in about $28,500 on the city's present valuation.)

The city council's wage increases appear more poorly processed than undesired in a context of time and point the desirability of a better developed personnel and pay policy and conformity to it.

The Doctor Says:

Arthritis Not Bad As It Sounds

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstad

—What is degenerative (osteo) arthritis?
A — This is the hereditary form of arthritis seen in persons who are past middle age. Although it has a forbidding name it is not the severe crippling disease rheumatoid arthritis is.

Q — My doctor has prescribed Pablate for my osteoarthritis. Is this just a glorified aspirin?

A — This is a combination of sodium salicylate (closely related to aspirin), potassium aminobenzoate and vitamin C. The first two ingredients work better in combination than either one alone in combating arthritis.

Q — How effective are gold injections in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis? Would they be likely to cause attacks of colitis?

A — Injections of gold salts will not cure rheumatoid arthritis but in many victims they will give relief. The treatment must be continued for several months. Because the margin of safety between the effective dose and gold poisoning is very narrow the drug must be used with caution, and anyone who is taking it should report to his doctor any itching of the skin or soreness in the mouth. It does not cause colitis.

Q — There are lots of remedies for reducing but what is the best way for a thin person to gain weight?

A — A person gains weight because he eats more calories every day than he uses up as energy. Most persons who are underweight either have a finicky appetite or a chronic disease such as an overactive thyroid, tuberculosis or colitis. Check with your doctor to find out why you are underweight and, if you do not have a disease that would account for it, start a program of forced feeding.

Eat three eggs and a large piece of cheese every day and take one cubic inch of butter or margarine at each meal. Drink a glass of half milk and half cream three times a day. This is hard to do at first but the appetite often picks up once you have started to gain.

Q — What is the cause of T T syndrome and what is the treatment?

A — As near as I can figure from where I sit, you must be referring to Tietze's syndrome in which a tender swelling occurs in the chest where the bony rib joins the rib cartilage. The cause is unknown. Hot applications and aspirin are prescribed to relieve the pain. Hydrocortisone may be given to reduce the inflammation and shorten the course of the disease. Although the duration of the disease varies from a few days to several months, complete recovery is the rule.

Copper Recovery Process Sought

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — A $2.8 million experiment to extract copper from ores that are uneconomical at present is on the verge of success, informed sources said Thursday.

A spokesman for the Anglo-American corporation which mines copper in Zambia declined to comment on the possibility of an announcement of a breakthrough.

The sources said scientists had been experimenting for more than 30 years with a process for extracting copper in commercial quantities from oxide ores.

They said the process could mean copper left in dumps could be treated to yield further deposits. This could mean the reopening of several mines.

Copper Fever Hits The Keweenaw

Calumet Eyes Prosperity While Waiting Mine Feasibility Report

(Editor's note: Young men by the hundreds have fled Michigan's Upper Peninsula for a better life with better pay. But copper fever has seized the land and many who fled may come back. This Associated Press special report takes a look at the effect of a new optimism in this region which had faced a bleak future.)

CALUMET (AP) — An entire civilization of copper miners is believed to have vanished mysteriously thousands of years ago from this ore-rich area.

And for the past 45 years a new generation of miners feared it might vanish, too.

But two dramatic announcements this month have spread copper fever through the countryside.

There have been rumors of mining stock being sold in the streets. Merchants have gotten estimates on building attractive new store fronts.

There's talk of people who have doubled their wealth overnight.

Mothers are writing to sons who long since struck out for greener pastures to return home to possible jobs in this far northern Upper Peninsula community.

Focal point of the new optimism is Calumet & Hecla Inc., second biggest copper producer in Michigan.

The company announced April 6 it had discovered a lode of at least 35 million tons of copper ore near Calumet.

The firm's president, Paul W. Robson, dispelled fears the company might someday leave Calumet when he told some 80 business leaders "Calumet & Hecla is back in the mining business again, and we are going to stay in the mining business."

Admitting many men, young and old, had left the area, Robson urged "Let's work to bring them back" because "Many more people than we have today" will be needed to mine the new deposits.

The price of Calumet & Hecla stock shot up $25 a share after the New York Stock Exchange delayed trading for six sessions in an unprecedented precautionary action.

"We've been pulling our hair out just to keep things straight around here," said stockbroker Robert Strang of Calumet.

A reported 20 per cent of Calumet & Hecla stock was held by Upper Michigan residents and, in selling, "People around here have doubled their wealth overnight," Strang said.

"But I'm afraid somebody's going to get hurt," he added.

Based On Hope
Describing the market as "very, very volatile," Strang said the stock price soared mainly on speculation engineering studies would determine the new ore discovery worth the cost of deep-shaft mining.

Merchants told her they tentatively planned new store fronts. Jack Lepisto, 61-year-old, lifelong Copper Country resident who owns six supermarkets in the area, said "There has been quite a bit of profit-taking that certainly will contribute to the immediate prosperity."

"The people are very optimistic" about the future of mining, he said.

And, some 45 years after 25,000 miners left the Calumet area because the mines were shutting down, hardware merchant Peter Baudino finds a "quiet optimism and a nice sense of security" prevailing in the community.

"The business community feels the shoe is now on the optimistic foot," said Victor Giacometto, president of the Calumet-Keweenaw Chamber of Commerce.

The wave of optimism comes 100 years after a legendary pig scratched in an old Indian pit here and found the first copper in modern times. It comes after researchers found traces of a civilization that mined copper in the peninsula long before the pyramids were built.

Now, the firm's Calumet Division seeks 50 new employees to bolster a work force of 1,355 at its three old and four new mines. Only 10 years ago, 2,400 persons worked for the firm.

Double Production
The old mines are considered marginal workings, but three of the new ones are being built under a $9 million program.

These shafts are drawing on huge deposits of high-grade ore discovered two years ago in an existing lode. That discovery also brought a surge in optimism and a lifting of the stock price.

Hopes are to double Calumet's production of 35 million pounds a year. The firm's major problem is to mine copper from shafts 6,000 feet below the surface while competing with open pit copper mines of the southwestern United States.

Meanwhile, the region's largest copper producer, Copper Range Co., is producing 132 million pounds of copper a year from its White Pine Mine, southwest of Calumet.

Copper Range plans to spend $85 million in the next seven years to double production at this mine where, last fall, the firm found ore reserves were twice the 300 million tons originally estimated.

Under a suggested equalizing formula, they contend this would allow about 9 million youngsters, about a fifth of the U.S. public school total, to be raised to the "reasonably good" level where about $1,000 a year will be spent on each child's schooling. The very best schools are still above this level.

Vastly greater federal fund increases are rated necessary as later steps.

The educators further recommend a far tougher and more explicit insistence on workable desegregation programs as a condition for the receipt of federal funds.

Their belief is that the conditional provisions now set forth in the 1964 civil rights law are not being effectively used.

To wipe out widely prevailing attitudes of disinterest and hostility toward established policies of equal educational opportunity, they want a strong show of vocal, active leadership from the President, the 50 governors, mayors and countless other state and local officials.

They want this effort to include correction of present "twisted and distorted images" of Negro and other minority groups.

Running against a trend which has seen elimination of racial identification in many official government tabulations the educators propose that Congress and the administration adopt a frankly color-conscious approach to the equality problem.

They contend that racial identification, kept confidential in official reports, will enable the authorities to monitor possible discriminatory practices and help bring about equality of opportunity.

Telephone Customer Doesn't Come First

Dear Ann Landers: I promised myself if it happened again I would sit down and write to you. And it did, so here I am.

Why does a telephone customer get precedence over the customer who has taken the time and trouble to go to the store? I left my office today for what I thought would be a quick trip. Just as I was preparing to hand the saleswoman the money, the telephone rang. She turned around without so much as a word and left me standing there while she became involved with a customer who had dozens of questions. With every passing minute my blood-pressure mounted. I tapped my foot for 12 minutes.

I very nearly walked out of the store but I decided it would be biting off my nose to spite my face. If I left I would have to start all over again some place else and perhaps not find what I wanted.

Please don't tell me to boycott the store that treats its customers this way. They ALL do. Just tell me what to do about it.—COLUMBIA, S. C.

Dear Ann Landers: Leaving a customer to answer the telephone is more than bad business. It is bad manners. It's as rude as turning your back on a friend in mid-sentence to speak to an intruder.

The sales person who must answer the phone should ask his customer before he leaves him if he will please wait one moment while he takes the number so he can return the call.

The next time you are abandoned this way I hope you will walk out. Then write a letter to the store president and tell him why the store lost the sale and your good will.

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of seven children and I have seen a good bit of what goes on in the world so please don't think I'm naive. What happened yesterday gave me the shock of my life.

When the delivery boy returned the family dry cleaning he handed me some papers that had been found in our son's coat pocket. (Karl is 17.) Among the papers was a note from a girl, Karl and the girl are not going steady. He just happens to see this girl more often than any of the others.

The girl was pleading with Karl to take her to a motel so they could pretend they were married. From the way she wrote it sounds as if she has been trying to get him to do this for quite some time.

Please tell me if I should remain silent and act as if I know nothing. Or should I let Karl know I saw the note and have a talk with him?—LAN.

CASTER MOTHER

Dear Mother: Get a copy of my book, "Ann Landers Talks To Teen-Agers About Sex." You don't have to buy it. Your public library has a copy. Hand the book to Karl when you return the papers to him. Explain how you happen to have the papers and tell him you have read everything.

Make it plain you have complete confidence in him and that you know he's not going to do anything foolish. Tell him you want to make sure he has plenty of information since it is obvious that some of the girls in his crowd are in pretty pathetic shape emotionally and are ignorant as well.

Do you feel ill at ease . . .

out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Students Take Draft Deferment Test Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 350,000 to 400,000 college and graduate students will try to convince their draft boards Saturday they would serve the nation better in the quiet of their classrooms than in the jungles of Viet Nam.

Bay De Noc Site

The test will be given at Bay de Noc Community College with students reporting at 8:30. The test is designed to last three hours, but students are not expected to be finished until after noon because of registration procedures prior to writing the exam.

The persuader: A three-hour 150-question draft deferment test given at 1,200 colleges and universities in the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

College Board To Retain Planners For Future Needs

A report for the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and a long-range plan were discussed at the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of Bay de Noc Community College Thursday night.

After preliminary discussion of finances, the Board accepted and adopted a self study report for submission to the regional accrediting association. The 100 page report will be delivered to North Central by May 15.

The Board decided to interview four architectural firms to select a consultant for the long-range plan. The work would involve professional advice on building needs and site selection, but would not involve actual design of buildings. The long range plan is expected to be completed during the summer of 1966.

The Board expressed appreciation to Harold Gasman for donation of trees and time in directing college landscaping work. Technical help has been provided by Joseph Heirman, MSU Extension agent in Delta County.

Problems involved in college field trips were referred to Clyde McGonagle, attorney for the college, and Leo Alperovitz, Business Director, for a study of the legal and financial problems involved in providing such transportation.

Argentina's climate varies so widely that it furnishes a habitat for both parrots and penguins.

Even a smashing score is no guarantee that the student will be deferred for the school year that begins in the fall, but most draft boards are likely to put great stock in the results. For, as the head of a local draft board here put it, "We're doing everything possible to stimulate higher education."

The examinations, used from 1951 to 1963, were revived last March by Selective Service amid complaints by many leading educators that a class-standing yardstick alone was unfair to students in tougher colleges.

Within two weeks, the examination papers will be sent to Science Research Associates, graded—70 is passing for undergraduates, 80 for graduate students—and the results sent to the local draft boards.

The process will be repeated May 21, June 3 and June 24 for perhaps 600,000 additional students who, like the ones Saturday volunteered to be tested. In all, the director of Selective Service, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, estimated Thursday, more than one million will take the test.

About 1.8 million students now hold deferments, which means approximately 800,000 will ride the draft board rapids without it.

S. Viet Police Catch 38 Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines wiped out most of a Viet Cong force in South Viet Nam Thursday, while American planes downed their 12th Communist MIG over North Viet Nam, U.S. spokesmen announced.

Government security forces reported a major blow against Viet Cong terrorists in Saigon. They announced the arrest of 38 Communist commandos and said some of them were from cells responsible for bombings and machine gun raids in which 21 persons were killed and more than 250 wounded.

In fierce fighting 18 miles southwest of Da Nang, Leathernecks of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division reported killing 175 Viet Cong of a force of more than 200. The Marines seized a Communist training camp after a 10-hour battle.

The fighting began when 14 Leathernecks on patrol 17 miles southwest of Saigon strayed into the Viet Cong nest. Though outnumbered 10 to one, the Marines stood their ground. A relief force found two wounded survivors.

Total American casualties were described as light in one of the biggest fights between the Marines and the Viet Cong in recent months.

Heavy artillery and air support accounted for 120 Communist dead, a Marine spokesman said. The beleaguered patrol killed 30. All the Communist dead were confirmed by body count, the spokesman said.

HOUSE PLAN ORDER

Building Editor, Escanaba Daily Press:

Enclosed is 50c for baby blueprint on design G-33 ☐

Name _____
 Street _____
 City _____ State _____

COMBINATION: This is the way the living room and dining room look if a completely open area is desired: a room divider is optional for the family wishing separate rooms.

EARLY AMERICAN: There's a world of old-fashioned charm in the traditional design of this three-bedroom house, which can be converted into a five-bedroom dwelling with an extra bath by utilizing the attic space over the right-hand portion of the structure.

By ANDY LANG

The need of some families for more than three bedrooms in a house of moderate size led architect Herman H. York in the direction of this week's design.

Basically a three-bedroom house enclosed in a traditional Early American style, it provides ample space for two extra bedrooms in an expansion attic placed over only the right-hand part of the structure. From the front, the attic adds interest to the roof line in a kind of studio-like elevation. The L-shaped main floor plan makes it possible to cover a larger area on a lot of medium width than if the design were ing the dining room portion from the foyer.

Adjacent to this area is the U-shaped kitchen, with all the modern conveniences, a window looking out on the rear terrace and another at the table area. Housewives will like the pantry closet next to the refrigerator.

There is a fireplace in the family room, which adjoins the kitchen, laundry room and a lavatory-toilet. From the laundry room one can go into the garage without going outside. Another door leads to the rear terrace.

All three bedrooms have plenty of wall space. A large split bathroom makes multiple use a possibility. In addition, a door from the main bedroom leads directly to the "wash-up area of the bathroom. An oversized bedroom hall, paneled in prefinished plywood or hardboard, can be pleasing to the eye as well as a practical hub of the bedroom wing. Closets have bifolding doors for ease of operation and as space-savers.

The attic space is divided into two bedrooms, a bath, a telephone corner and four closets with additional storage available under the eaves. The attic bathroom is located directly above the bath plumbing below for economy purposes.

Convention exterior materials add an authentic appearance to traditional Early American style. The wood shingles shown can be either sawn or lightweight hand split. Very heavy hand split shingles on a small or medium-sized house can overpower the exterior, destroying whatever character has been designed into it.

A small wrought iron railing at the attic window can be either black or white, depending on the color of the surrounding area. The garage door is simple and tasteful without accents, since attention should be drawn away from this large mass and directed toward the front entrance. This can be done effectively with color and a well-planned scheme of landscaping.

The 1814 square feet on the main floor level of this house can be augmented by 564 square feet of living area on the second floor, but the upper level need not be finished until needed, if at all.

Escanaba District Leads Fire Count

Fifty-two fires were reported in the Upper Peninsula in the week ending May 7, burning 705.5 acres, according to the Department of Conservation. Thirteen fires were reported from the Escanaba District (Delta and Marquette counties, west-half of Alger) burning 606.2 acres. To date the district has had 24 fires burning 698.5 acres.

Four fires were reported from the Newberry District (Luce, Mackinac, Schoolcraft, Chippewa and east Alger) burning 8.6 acres. To date it has had 37 fires burning 192 acres.

A total of 114 fires have burned 1,072 acres in the Upper Peninsula to date. Last year at this time 77 fires had burned 225 acres.

Down Payment: Big Or Little?

QUESTION: We will soon be buying a house. In fact, we have about decided what kind of house it will be. It's in a new development in a nice neighborhood. We have been getting conflicting opinions on whether we should make a down payment of $12,000 on the house, which costs $25,000, or whether we should make the least possible down payment.

ANSWER: This is a matter which has been argued throughout the years. The larger your down payment, the smaller your monthly payments, assuming mortgages of equal length. You will be paying much less interest over the course of the years and so, in effect, the house will cost you less.

On the other hand, if you make a small downpayment, your money will not be tied up and might be used advantageously in some other way. Even if it isn't, it will be drawing interest in a bank or savings and loan association. But your monthly payments will be larger, and the house, in the long run, will cost you more.

Very much depends on how easily you can spare the $12,000. If it straps you to put up that much, by all means don't do it as there inevitably will come a time when you wish you had some of it handy. If not, we favor the larger down payment.

In This Corner

with Roy Crandall

In high school track circles you often hear about sprinters who can run the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds flat, but you rarely see them... There hasn't been a 10 second century in the Upper Peninsula this year and no athlete in history has managed that feat in a U.P. finals meet... The existing records for the "hundred" are 10.2 seconds in classes A-B and D and 10.4 in C.

The fastest times recorded by sprinters this season match the U.P. records in Class A-B and better the mark in Class C... Neil DeRoche of Sault Ste. Marie hit a 10.2 early in the season... The next best time in Class A-B was a 10.45 by Holy Name's Jim Groos... In Class C, Ray Sibley of Wakefield owns a 10.15 clocking... The fastest time in Class D this spring was an 11-flat by Rapid River's Dick Forslund in the recent Central League meet.

Another rare performance in Upper Peninsula track competition is a 6-foot high jump... Dan Purple of Gwinn soared 6-3 1/2 in a spectacular effort to set the current Class A-B record in 1964... Both the Class C and D records are a shade under 6 feet... John LaVallee of Garden set the D standard at 5-11 1/2 in 1962 and Dick Coski of Wakefield the C record at 5-11 1/2 in 1959.

Only one Upper Peninsula prep jumper has been able to reach 6 feet this season... Lee King, a Gwinn freshman, went 6-1 in a triangular meet against Nequaunee and Marquette Baraga this week... The best performance in Class A-B was a 5-10 1/2 mark by Brad Shouldice of Sault Ste. Marie... The top height turned in by a Class D jumper this year was 5-8 by Bob Fredrikson of L'Anse.

Menominee came out second best in a triangular track meet this week, scoring 41 1/2 points to 57 for Peshtigo and 38 1/2 for Marinette... Jim Uecke returned to action after missing two meets because of a bruised hip and won his high jump specialty at 5 feet 8 inches... Mike Bellisle took the broad jump at 18-3 1/2 and Doug Schrank the half mile in 2:09.5 for the only other individual first for the Maroons.

Coach Guss Lord's Stephenson Eagles tuned up for the Saturday regional track meet here by topping Marinette Central, 66-43, in dual action this week... Individual winners for the Eagles were Dave Bush in the long jump, Mickey Raboine in the high hurdles, Mark Dougovito in the half mile, Bert Hayward in the 220, Bob Nerat in the shot put and John Picard in the high jump.

Channing's Paul Peak, sensational hurdler in last year's Upper Peninsula Class D track finals, flashed his winning form in a triangular meet with Crystal Falls and Niagara... Peak stepped the 120 highs in 15.85 seconds and the 180 lows in 22.9... He set new U.P. records in both events in the finals last year, running the highs in 15.4 and the lows in 21.1.

Houk's Yankees Suffer Setback

By The Associated Press
Ralph Houk got his way, and his first loss.

Unbeaten during a stretch of three games and two rainouts since being reinstated as New York manager, Houk wanted Thursday night's weather-threatened game at Minnesota to be played in an attempt to maintain the Yankees' momentum.

But the Yankees ran out of momentum when they ran into Jim Merritt, and went down 4-3, the first loss since Houk replaced Johnny Keane and masterminded the streak that swept the Yankees out of last place into ninth.

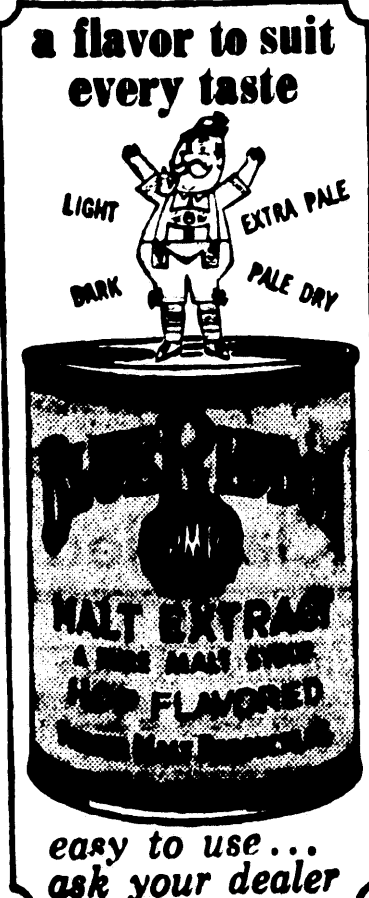

It was cold and windy before the game and Twins' owner Cal Griffith talked to Houk about a postponement until the day after the All-Star Game. Houk vetoed the idea because it would deprive the Yankees of a three-day rest period.

And there was the Yankees' momentum to consider, fol-

Action Set For Saturday

Fifteen Schools Will Compete In Regional Track Meet Here

A field of 300 athletes representing 15 schools will compete in the regional track and field meet at the Escanaba Athletic Field Saturday.

Competing in Class A-B will be Escanaba, Holy Name, Gladstone and Menominee. Entered in Class C are Marquette Baraga, Norway, St. Ignace and Stephenson. In the Class D field are Garden, Bark River-Harris, Nahma, Perkins, Rapid River, Rock and Cooks, Escanaba and Garden are defending champions while Gwinn won the Class C team title last year.

Athletes will be seeking to qualify for the Upper Peninsula finals at Marquette May 21. The first four finishers in the individual events and the first two finishers in the relay races will qualify for the finals.

The action will get underway at 10 a.m. with field events in all classes. First of the preliminaries in the hurdles will start at 10:30 and action will continue until noon when athletes will get a break for lunch. The meet will resume at 1 p.m.

Meet manager Harold Johnson today announced his crew of officials, as follows:

The bulky field of athletes is dotted with individual standouts who have turned in spectacular performances in spite of adverse weather conditions this season.

One of the top athletes in the meet is Escanaba's junior hurdler Jim Boyle. He owns the school record of 20.9 seconds in the 180 yard low hurdles, has skinned the 120 highs in 15.6 and has reached 19 feet 11 1/2 inches in the long jump.

Draft Board Turns Down Clay's Claim

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The chairman of Cassius Clay's local draft board says his interpretation of Muslim law contradicts the heavyweight champion's claim that serving in the armed forces would go against his religion.

The contradiction, J. Allen Sherman said Thursday, caused the rejection of one appeal made by Clay of his 1-A draft status.

The other appeal, in which Clay said induction in military service would present a hardship, also was rejected by Local Board 47 in Louisville. Sherman said.

Edward Jacko Jr., Clay attorney in New York, said, "The appeal is predicted mostly on hardship, because the hardship exists at this time."

But he said there are "eight or nine grounds for the appeal, including conscientious objection." Jacko didn't elaborate on the others.

Sherman said both appeals were referred to Kentucky's Western Judicial Circuit Appeal Board at Louisville.

Should Clay's conscientious objection appeal be upheld, he still would serve, either in non-combatant military service or nonmilitary jobs, said Col. Everett S. Stephenson, director of Kentucky's Selective Service.

Sherman said the local board rejected Clay's appeal after "it looked up a little Muslim law."

"The Muslim code says the Muslims should obey the law of the land in which they reside. Now, the draft law is the law of the land."

"Another thing, the Muslims have their own military force. I don't see how they could say they are not militaristic when they have a military force of their own."

Groos is also a top challenger, reached 11 feet 1 1/2 inches in the short sprints with a 10.45 clocking in the 100 and a 23.7 in the 220.

Gary Vandeville of Esby, although hampered by injuries, has been clocked in 10.7 in the 100 and 24.1 in the 220. Menominee's Ed Powell is another swiftly with a 10.5 in the 100 and 24.2 in the 220.

Gladstone has a pair of star performers in Carl Norkooli and Keith Apelgren. Norkooli's 2:04.4 half mile time has been the best in the Peninsula this year and he has been under 2:10 in four straight winning efforts. Keith Apelgren has

Howe Named To All-Star Team For Ninth Time

MONTREAL (AP) — Gordie Howe, Detroit's indestructible right winger, owns still another National Hockey League record today after being named to the circuit's first All-Star team for the ninth time.

Howe, 38 years old and the league's career goal-scoring leader with 624, collected 160 points in the balloting by writers and broadcasters in the NHL's six cities released Thursday.

Maurice "Rocket" Richard of Montreal had previously shared the mark of eight first-team All-Star selections.

Howe, who has played big league hockey for a record 20 seasons, was the only Red Wings' player chosen for the first team. The Chicago Black Hawks placed four players, left winger Bobby Hull, center Stan Mikita, defenseman Pierre Pilote and goalie Glenn Hall. Jacques Laperriere, Canadiens' defenseman, also was selected.

Should it be like asking a favor to get your car serviced after the sale?

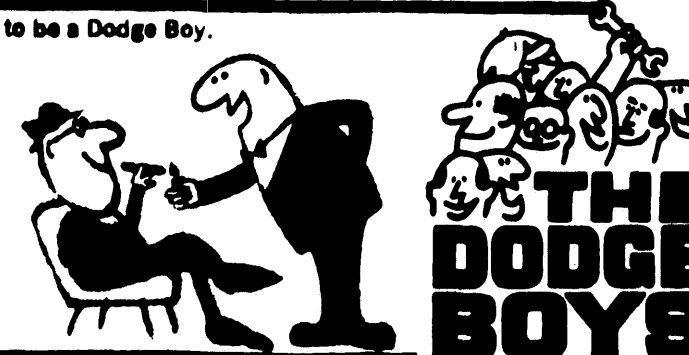

Come to where you're treated like a customer instead of a charity case - at The Dodge Boys.

No red tape. No indifferent service managers. No bills that leave you breathless.

Just a few more reasons more people are joining the Dodge Rebellion. A Dodge Boys' service manager knows that you don't want to stand around all day before someone comes up to see what you're doing there. He knows you don't like to pay for coffee breaks. He knows you may want to talk to the guy who worked on your car. He knows you may want an explanation of what you're paying for.

You deserve it all. Nobody gives service away. An auto dealer counts on service for income. He's not doing you a favor to service your car. You're doing him one. So do us a favor. Try The Dodge Boys for service. We sell a lot of Dodges that way.

You gotta be a good guy if you want to be a Dodge Boy.

MANISTIQUE Arrange Exhibits On State Writing

The 13th annual Michigan Week observance takes place next week with Manistique again participating. Resumption of the mayor exchange marks the observance here.

Part of the objectives of the celebration is being handsomely met through book displays arranged by Mrs. J. J. Herbert in the windows at Ford garage and Johnson Cleaners.

The displays are of books written by Michigan people and those concerning the state. They come from Mrs. Herbert's library and collections of the Post Historical Museum. The Manistique school and public library also is displaying books to help residents know more about the state, its colorful history and wide range of social, economic and cultural offerings.

Woolcott's second reader is included in the window display. In this is found Ernest Hemingway's "Little Two-Hearted Fishing," concerning the area near Seney.

Other works include Stewart Holbrook's "American Lumberjack," the books of Justice Voelker, written under the pen name "Robert Traver," William D. Hulbert's "White Pine Days on the Taquamenon," Paul A. Herbert's "Michigan's Log Marks," Fred C. Burke's "Logs on the Menominee."

Also displayed are Henry Ford's "My Life and Work," Osborn and Osborn's "Schoolcraft - Longfellow - Hiawatha," Margaret Gilbert and William Finlan's "Upper Peninsula of Michigan," F. Clever Bald's "Michigan in Four Centuries," and "Education in Violence" by Francis McKinney.

There are 51 books in the Herbert-Post House exhibit. Others are Kenneth Roberts' "Northwest Passage," John B. Martin's "Call It North Country," Wilfred Shaw's "The University of Michigan," Chase S.

Osborn's "The Iron Hunter," John I. Bellaire's "Medicine Water," Will Carlton's "Farm Ballads," and Stewart Edward White's "The River Man." The library display includes works on the government of the state, history, fiction, drawings and photographs.

Action on a petition to submit a proposal to voters to increase tax limitation to 18 mills is also scheduled.

Heaviest concentrations of fishermen have been along Baker Creek and Sucker and Two-Hearted rivers, the Conservation Department reports.

Lake trout fishing in Dutch Fred Lake was poor during the day and fair in the evening the past week. Fishermen on Grand Sable Lake were using dead smelt for bait.

A few catches of splake were reported taken from Pretty and Moon lakes on night crawlers. Brook trout fishing was generally poor.

For warm water fishing the department's report showed spotty success for walleyes on Big and Little Manistique lakes, with weather generally too cold and stormy for walleye and northern pike.

Longnose or red-side suckers were observed spawning in Bulldog Creek, which empties into Seul Choix Bay, and Marblehead Creek, which also empties into Lake Michigan, east of Manistique.

White and black suckers are beginning to spawn in streams tributary to Lake Michigan.

Mineralogists Meet June 16 At Houghton

HOUGHTON — When it comes to mining history and lore, no area in America is more steeped in it than the Copper Country. Consequently 800-1,000 members of the Mid-west Federation of Mineralogical and Geological Societies are expected to have a field day when their annual field convention opens on the Michigan Tech campus June 16.

The four-day get-together will feature work sessions, play sessions, business sessions and rock trading session; but most of all, it will include 10 field trips where member rock-hounds will be able to seek new specimens for their collections.

Featured speaker will be John Sinkankas, a retired Navy captain and currently research assistant at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, La Jolla, Calif. He is an authority on lapidary work and is the author of such books as "Gemstones of North America," and "A Lapidary's Manual."

Field trip sites will include a nearby quarry where a complete cross section of a Keweenaw lava flow is exposed; several mine dumps and "poor rock" piles from abandoned copper mines; and two trips to various points along the Lake Superior shoreline, where the group will look for agates, jasper, chert, prehnite, thomsonite and the many colored pebbles that will tumble polish.

James Watt was the improver, not the inventor of the steam engine.
